

Cut and Cover Construction Method

RSB's "light" tunnel formwork with a curved or rectangular cross-section is ideal for projects using the open cut construction method. Formwork characteristics include:

- Fully hydraulic
- Easy to move
- Easy to operate
- Few anchoring points
- Drive units depending on requirements

Planning, construction and handover of the finished product ready for use: RSB's complete service.

